The Trump psyop is so multi-layered and undeniably genius.

The establishment has successfully conditioned both parties to focus on Trump for all the wrong reasons.

He's not Hitler, like Democrats think. And he's not a savior, like Republicans think.

He is a very convincing, consuming, and charismatic actor, who will absolutely be selected this election, so he can continue to distract supporters of both parties.

Meanwhile, the technocrats and global cabal who fund them will move forward with implementing all of the policies we've been successfully distracted from.

They will "end the Fed"... and replace it with CBDC.

They will "control the borders"... with biometric surveillance.

They will implement a "voter ID"... that will become your digital ID.

They will present "The Everything App"... that will manage your social credit score.

This won't happen overnight, but it will happen, unless we stop the madness now. We are consumed by a scripted reality TV show. It might be entertaining, but continuing to be distracted by it will only solidify our digital prison.

Make no mistake: the technocratic pied piper is Trump, and Americans of all political leanings are following his tune down to the river.
